Defendants.

Plaintiff The Wave Studio, LLC (“Plaintiff” or “Wave”) hereby alleges against Defendants as follows:

NATURE OF THIS ACTION

1. This copyright infringement action arises from Defendants' willful, worldwide infringement of Wave's copyrighted images.
2. For more than 20 years, Lee Kar Yin (also known as "Junior") has created branding, advertisement, and marketing materials such as flyers, brochures, press kits, and the like for luxury hotels and resorts across the globe. Ms. Lee's work is highly sought-after and frequently used for hotels, their management companies and travel agencies to advertise to global travelers. Ms. Lee captures these properties in their best light. She skillfully directs, styles, and conducts photoshoots, and then edits the photographs. Ms. Lee's hours, or sometimes days, of painstaking work put into each photograph produces images that are works-of-art:

The Chedi – Muscat, Oman

The Setai - Miami Beach, USA

3. Over the years, Ms. Lee, through various corporate entities she set up for the purpose of carrying out her work in the creative industry, built an impressive database of 2,381 published photographs and about 756 unpublished photographs of luxury hotels and resorts created for, but not owned by, her clients. To protect her intellectual property rights in those photographs, Ms. Lee formed Wave and through Wave registered 30 copyrights for those photographs with the U.S. Copyright Office.

4. Ms. Lee and Wave built that database during their working relationship with former client GHM (General Hotel Management, Ltd.), which managed luxury hotels and resorts around the world.

5. GHM and GHM-managed hotels contracted with Wave for the branding, design, and production of marketing materials with a limited license to distribute the physical materials themselves. GHM and GHM-managed hotels never acquired the ownership rights to the underlying photographs or their copyrights, or any right to further use, reproduce, distribute or sublicense them. Indeed, Wave reiterated the limited nature of the license through its Terms and Conditions reserving all rights to its work, including ownership of the photographs and copyrights, on Wave's production estimates or quotes to GHM and GHM-managed hotels.

6. Remarkably, despite not having any rights to use Wave's photographs, other than by distributing the printed marketing materials Wave itself was contracted to produce, GHM disseminated Wave's works to numerous third parties, and all without Ms. Lee's knowledge or consent.

7. These third parties in possession of Wave's photographs not only used Wave's photographs for their own benefit, but also often further disseminated them to other third parties. This rampant and infringing proliferation of Wave's photographs spread to countless companies and websites, many of whom are now Defendants in this case.

8. Defendants have no license or ownership interest in Wave's works. Tellingly, no Defendant has ever sought Wave's permission to use, reproduce, or distribute the works. Despite this, Defendants have continued to use, reproduce, and distribute Wave's works in violation of Wave's copyright rights without proper recompense.

9. Defendants have utilized the Wave's works for the purpose of enhancing their respective businesses, including by promoting and advertising their bookings, driving significant web traffic to each high-end hotel featured in Wave's works, and increasing the number of bookings made through Defendants' booking platforms. In turn, all Defendants have yielded significant revenue, without Wave's authorization.

10. Because of Defendants' indiscriminate infringement, Wave's photographs – the product of Ms. Lee's unique creative vision and detailed effort – are displayed on Defendants' websites, mobile sites, mobile applications, and potentially other platforms across the world, visible to thousands and likely millions of visitors, and have been reproduced and distributed, at a minimum, via Defendants' desktop or mobile websites, related content delivery networks, mobile apps, distribution hubs, storage mechanisms, and other electronic means, which are accessible and viewed by individuals in many countries and in numerous languages. For this unauthorized use, Wave has not been compensated a single cent.

11. After discovering the infringement, Ms. Lee instituted a thorough process, which continues, to identify the true extent of Defendants' infringement including through creative search solutions like automated reverse image searches.

12. In 2013, Wave filed this action against GHM and other Defendants in the Southern District of New York. Wave filed this action within three years of discovering Defendants' infringement, which on information and belief continues to this day as to almost all remaining Defendants named in this Master Complaint.

13. Wave and GHM quickly agreed to stay the case as to the other Defendants and resolve their litigation first, because unlike the other Defendants, GHM had the ability to raise potential defenses of ownership or licensed use.

14. After hearing cross motions for summary judgment, in 2017 the Honorable Judge Cathy Seibel dismissed the action as to GHM on forum non conveniens grounds, severed the liability and damages phases of the case, and directed the liability phase to be decided in Singapore. She also stayed this action as to the other Defendants pending the resolution of the Singapore case.

15. In 2018 Wave sued GHM in Singapore, and in January 2022, after a nine-day trial, the High Court of Singapore issued a decision on liability ruling completely in Wave's favor. Among other important findings, the Singapore Court held that Wave owns the 2,381 published photographs and about 756 unpublished photographs at issue, and that there was no implied license granted to either GHM or GHM-managed hotels to use Wave's photographs for their branding, advertising, and marketing purposes. Consequently, the Singapore Court confirmed GHM and GHM-managed hotels did not have a license to use Wave's photographs for internet or other digital marketing or to distribute or sublicense them. GHM appealed the decision, but the Singapore Appellate Court affirmed the trial court's findings. After this second loss, GHM declined to further appeal. Wave and GHM subsequently settled their dispute.

16. Meanwhile, between 2014 and 2022 Wave commenced ten additional lawsuits against other Defendants for the copyright infringement of its works. Those cases were consolidated and are administered together here in the above-captioned case. Wave also initiated another copyright infringement lawsuit in 2023 that has not yet been consolidated with the others.

17. In November 2023, Judge Seibel lifted the stay, and ordered Wave to file a master complaint with particularized allegations as to each Defendants' infringement to the extent such information is attainable.

18. Wave now files this Master Complaint to establish the extent of Defendants' infringement and to recover the full measure of damages allowable under the law for the harm cause by Defendants' unmitigated worldwide theft.

19. This Master Complaint applies to the following twelve cases, including the most recently filed action, The Wave Studio, LLC v. Trivago, N.V., Case No. 7:23-cv-03586-NSR, which has not yet been consolidated with the other eleven lawsuits:

(1) The Wave Studio, LLC v. Amadeus North America, Inc., et al., Case No. 7:15-cv-06995-CS;

- (2) The Wave Studio, LLC v. American Express Company, Case No. 7:15-cv-03420;
- (3) The Wave Studio, LLC v. AOL Inc., et al., Case No. 7:15-cv-05962-CS;
- (4) The Wave Studio, LLC v. Booking Holdings Inc., et al., Case No. 7:21-cv-02691-CS;
- (5) The Wave Studio, LLC v. British Airways PLC, et al., Case No. 7:15-cv-07950-CS;
- (6) The Wave Studio, LLC v. Citibank N.A., et al., Case No. 7:22-cv-05141;

- (8) The Wave Studio, LLC v. Groupon, Inc., et al., Case No. 7:17-cv-03589-CS;
- (9) The Wave Studio, LLC v. United Airlines, Inc., Case No. 7:15-cv-05392-CS;

- (12) The Wave Studio, LLC v. Trivago, N.V., Case No. 7:23-cv-03586-NSR.

20. Wave filed each of the above actions within three years of discovering Defendants' infringement, which on information and belief continues.

98. Typically, clients purchase Wave’s marketing materials with a limited license to distribute the physical marketing materials themselves. Wave never sells the ownership rights to the underlying photographs or their copyrights, or any right to further use, reproduce, sublicense or distribute them to its clients.

99. Indeed, in providing services, Wave issues production estimates to its clients that specifically reserve all of Wave’s rights to the works, including the ownership of the photographs and the copyrights.

II. Wave creates the photographs at issue.

100. For thirteen years GHM, an entity that manages upscale hotels and resorts around the world, required the hotels they oversaw to engage Wave to create their marketing materials. Those hotels and resorts include:

- The Setai Miami (USA)
- The Heritage House Mendocino (USA)
- The Chedi Milan (Italy)
- The Leela Goa (India)
- The Chedi Muscat (Oman)
- The Nam Hai Hoi An (Vietnam)
- The Chedi Chiang Mai (Thailand)
- The Chedi Phuket (Thailand)
- The Saujana Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia)
- Carcosa Seri Negara Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia)
- The Legian Seminyak (Bali)
- The Club at The Legian Seminyak (Bali)
- The Chedi Club Ubud (Bali)
- The Serai Club Jimbaran (Bali)
- The Lalu Sun Moon Lake (Taiwan)
- The Datai Langkawi (Malaysia)
- The Andaman Langkawi (Malaysia)
- The Club at The Saujana Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia)

(Collectively, the “Hotels”).³

³ Eight of these hotels have been renamed and rebranded over the years. These hotels include: St Regis Goa (f/k/a The Leela), Four Seasons The Nam Hai (f/k/a The Nam Hai), Tanah Gajah by Hadiprana (f/k/a The Chedi Club), Anantara Chiang Mai (f/k/a The Chedi Chiang Mai), The Surin Phuket (f/k/a The Chedi Phuket), [The] Heritage House Resort & Spa Little River (f/k/a The Heritage House Mendocino) and Radisson Blu Milan (f/k/a The Chedi Milan).

101. GHM and the Hotels worked with Ms. Lee as follows: (1) GHM or the Hotels requested work, (2) Wave generated a production estimate,⁴ (3) the parties agreed to final terms, (4) Wave completed the work, and (5) the Hotels paid Wave.

102. Many of the orders GHM or the Hotels placed with Wave required photographs of the Hotels. GHM, however, did not have an adequate library of high-quality photographs of the Hotels, so Ms. Lee orchestrated photoshoots of them herself.

103. As the creative director, Ms. Lee hired photographers, planned, styled, and directed the photoshoots, and then edited (either personally or through close supervision of her employees) the raw photographs before incorporating the finished product into promotional materials. Ms. Lee and her staff spent an extensive amount of time crafting each photograph so it would properly portray the high-end qualities of each property. Typically, for example, post-production on a seven-day photoshoot would require a team of three or four artists and about three months to complete.

104. It was through these photoshoots – 29 of them in total conducted between December 2000 and October 2007 – that Wave built a proprietary database of 2,381 published photographs and about 756 unpublished photographs (collectively and individually, the “Copyrighted Works”) that were used to fulfill orders for GHM and the Hotels. As discussed below, the High Court of Singapore would later rule that Wave is the owner of the Copyrighted Works.

⁴ As alleged above, Wave’s production estimates, including those with GHM and the Hotels, invariably reserved all rights to Wave’s photographs, including the ownership of the photographs and the associated copyrights.

III. Wave's validly registered copyrights in the photographs at issue.

105. Wave's Copyrighted Works hold immense value for Wave and Ms. Lee, representing a culmination of her substantial investment in resources – spanning time, effort, talent, creativity, and financial commitment. The Copyrighted Works embody a sequence of original and creative decisions by Ms. Lee and constitute copyrightable subject matter under the United States copyright laws.

106. Wave owns at least 30 valid and registered copyrights for the Copyrighted Works which comprise 2,381 published photographs and about 756 unpublished, and which were duly registered with the U.S. Copyright Office under the following Registration Numbers:

See, The Wave Studio, LLC v. Citibank, N.A., et al., Case No. 7:22-cv-05141-CS, ECF No. 1 at Exhibit 1-A through 1-G.

107. On September 1, 2011, Ms. Lee formed Wave for the purposes of holding, administering, and enforcing the copyrights to the Copyrighted Works.

108. Over the years, Ms. Lee had set up related Wave entities for the purpose of carrying out her work in the creative industry. Ms. Lee and those prior Wave entities entered into a series of assignments to assign the copyright in Wave's works to Wave. These assignments were recorded with the United States Copyright Office.⁵

109. Wave is the sole owner and proprietor of all right, title, and interest in and to the Copyrighted Works. The copyrights in the Copyrighted Works are, and always were, valid.

IV. Ms. Lee discovers Defendants' unauthorized worldwide use of Wave's photographs.

110. At some point after GHM stopped working with Wave, and unbeknownst to Ms. Lee, GHM disseminated the Copyrighted Works to numerous third parties, including without limitation travel magazines, booking websites and financial institutions, to promote its hotels. Many of the Defendants admit that they received the Copyrighted Works from GHM.

111. No matter how they were disseminated, Ms. Lee eventually discovered that third parties were using Wave's Copyrighted Works for their own benefit and promotion, and often further disseminated them to other third parties. Many of these third parties are Defendants in this case.

112. As a result, the Copyrighted Works were—and in many instances still are—displayed on numerous third-party websites, mobile sites and mobile apps across the world, visible to thousands, and likely millions, of visitors to the Defendants' various websites and platforms.

113. Wave never assigned, licensed, or otherwise transferred any interest to the Copyrighted Works to Defendants, or otherwise dedicated them to the public. Nor has any Defendant ever sought Wave's or Ms. Lee's permission to use or reproduce the Copyrighted Works.

114. Despite having no permission, consent, or license to do so from Wave, Defendants have used, and a number of them, continue to use, reproduce or distribute the Copyrighted Works in violation of Wave's exclusive rights as copyright owner and have not compensated Wave for such use.

115. Defendants have utilized the Copyrighted Works for the purpose of enhancing their respective businesses, including by promoting and advertising their bookings, driving significant web traffic to each high-end hotel featured in Wave's works, and increasing the number of bookings made through Defendants' booking platforms. In turn, all Defendants have yielded significant revenue, without Wave's authorization.

116. Despite her limited resources as a small business owner, Ms. Lee has spent much of the past decade establishing her and Wave's ownership of the copyrights in the Copyrighted Works and investigating and identifying the infringement of the Copyrighted Works by Defendants.

117. Ms. Lee's process to identify Defendants' infringement (which is ongoing) includes, amongst other means, using automated reverse image search engines, and each listed domain in its dropdown menu within its website to confirm Defendants' use of Wave's Copyrighted Works. Ms. Lee further uses backlinks to various domains to identify the country and the URL (Uniform Resource Locator), or unique address, where the image is being displayed.⁶

118. Some infringements use hidden layers that mask the ability to identify some photographs, which significantly hampers Wave's ability to uncover all infringements of Wave's Copyrighted Works. As a result of issues like these coupled with the sheer magnitude of the infringement, it is unlikely that all of Defendants' infringements will be discovered.

⁶ A reverse image search "is the act of searching the internet with an image rather than keywords." <https://www.semrush.com/blog/reverse-image-search/>. A backlink is defined as "a link created when one website links to another." <https://www.semrush.com/blog/what-are-backlinks/>.

119. Given the extent and magnitude of Defendants' brazen infringement, Wave filed this lawsuit in the Southern District of New York to enforce its copyright rights against Defendants.

V. Wave sues GHM in the Southern District of New York.

120. In 2013, Wave sued GHM and dozens of other Defendants for copyright infringement of the Copyrighted Works. ECF Nos. 1 & 7 (Complaint and Amended Complaint). Wave filed this action within three years of discovering each Defendants' infringement, which on information and belief continues.

121. Early on, Wave and GHM agreed to stay the case as to all other Defendants. After three years of discovery, the parties filed cross-motions for summary judgment on the merits, i.e., as to the propriety or impropriety of GHM's use and dissemination of Wave's works. ECF Nos. 178 & 186 (Cross-Motions for Summary Judgment). In its motion, GHM also moved to dismiss the case on forum non conveniens grounds.

122. In March 2017, the Honorable Judge Cathy Seibel of the Southern District of New York dismissed the action as to GHM on forum non conveniens grounds, severed the liability and damages phases of the case, and directed liability to be decided in Singapore. She also stayed this action as to the other Defendants "pending the resolution of the case between Plaintiff and GHM in Singapore." ECF No. 209 at 21-22 (Summary Judgment Opinion).

123. Applying New York law, Judge Seibel considered the "adequacy of the alternative forum" as part of its forum non conveniens analysis. Judge Seibel was “persuaded that Singapore copyright law is well developed and that Plaintiff can adequately pursue its claims in Singapore,” id. at 14, and ultimately decided that it more made sense to resolve any liability issues there:

[W]hether or not GHM infringed any of Plaintiff’s alleged copyrights will inform the resolution of Plaintiff’s claims against the other Defendants who allegedly received Plaintiff’s photographs from GHM. That issue can, for the reasons discussed earlier, be resolved more appropriately and less expensively in Singapore. Further, to the extent it is resolved in Plaintiff’s favor, the remaining claims will involve different witnesses and documents.

Id. at 21.

124. Judge Seibel retained jurisdiction on the damages phase of the case and left the existing stay in place as to all other Defendants.

125. In the meantime, between 2014 and 2022, Wave commenced ten additional lawsuits against other defendants in the travel and hotel booking industries with substantially similar allegations and claims for the infringement of the Copyrighted Works. Those cases were consolidated and are now being administered in the above-captioned case.

VI. The Singapore Court declares Wave the owner of the Copyrighted Works.

126. In 2018, after having its case against GHM dismissed on forum non conveniens grounds, Wave sued GHM in the High Court of Singapore. Following a nine-day trial, in June 2022 the High Court of the Republic of Singapore issued a comprehensive 117-page decision, resulting in a complete verdict for Wave on liability. See The Wave Studio Pte. Ltd., et al v. General Hotel Management (Singapore) Pte. Ltd. (Suit No. 175 of 2018). The Singapore Court found that:

- (1) At the time of their creation, the prior Wave entities owned all of the Copyrighted Works;
- (2) Wave currently owns the Copyrighted Works;
- (3) The chain of title for all rights and ownership of the Copyrighted Works was intact and flowed from prior Wave entities to Wave;
- (4) Wave had not provided an implied license to the Hotels or GHM to use the Copyrighted Works for branding, advertising, and marketing purposes;
- (5) GHM infringed a number of Wave's Copyrighted Works by using and disseminating them publicly; and
- (6) GHM's defenses of laches, acquiescence and estoppel failed.

Id. at 90-91.

127. Noteworthy in the Singapore decision, is the Singapore Court's respect for Ms. Lee. All issues that turned on credibility systematically were decided in Ms. Lee's favor and included harsh criticism of the defendants. One sentence in the opinion stands out most: "Ms. Lee's account of events struck me as being honest: she maintained her account of events under cross-examination and made no attempt to embellish it." Id. at 42-43.

128. GHM appealed the decision to the Appellate Division of the High Court of the Republic of Singapore.

VII. The Singapore Appellate Court affirms the Trial Court's findings.

129. Immediately on conclusion of a February 2023 hearing, the appeal was dismissed by the Appellate Division of the High Court of the Republic of Singapore. The Singapore Appellate Division confirmed the lower court's finding for Wave on liability. The affirmation by the Appellate Division of the High Court of Singapore renders the decision final because GHM did not move for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeal.

130. Wave and GHM subsequently settled the dispute, and in October 2023 the High Court of Singapore issued a consent order memorializing the settlement.

VIII. Wave files new lawsuits in the Southern District of New York.

131. Between 2014 and 2022, Wave commenced ten additional lawsuits against other defendants in the travel and hotel booking industries with substantially similar allegations and claims for the infringement of the Copyrighted Works. Wave filed these actions within three years of discovering Defendants' infringement, which on information and belief continues. Those cases were consolidated and are now being administered in the above-captioned case.

132. Then in April 2023, Wave initiated a copyright infringement lawsuit against Defendants Trivago N.V., Trivago Services US, LLC, Trip.com Group Limited, Trip.com Travel Singapore Pte. Ltd., Skyscanner Ltd., MakeMyTrip India Pvt. Ltd., MakeMyTrip.com, Inc., Despegar.com Corp. and Despegar.com USA, Inc., alleging infringement of the Copyrighted Works. See The Wave Studio, LLC v. Trivago, N.V., Case No. 7:23-cv-03586-NSR, ECF Nos. 1, 6, 41 (Complaint, Amended Complaint, Second Amended Complaint). Wave filed that action within three years of discovering Defendants' infringement, which on information and belief continues.

133. Wave filed a motion for a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction in that case enjoin those Defendants from further using Wave's Copyrighted Works. Id., ECF No. 18 (Motion for PI & TRO).

134. At the time, Judge Seibel declined to consolidate that matter with the others.

135. The presiding judge, the Honorable Judge Nelson S. Román, denied Wave's motion on the grounds that Wave failed to show irreparable harm. Id., ECF No. 37 (PI & TRO Order) at 15-18. As a result, Judge Román declined to thoroughly analyze the other elements a party must prove to obtain a preliminary injunction. Id.

136. Notably, however, Judge Román briefly discussed Wave's likelihood of success on the merits, commenting that "Plaintiff makes a strong argument that under principles of comity, this Court should honor the Singapore Court's decisions, see supra, finding that Plaintiff owned the copyrighted works under its Copyright Registrations and that GHM infringed on those rights by disseminating the copyrighted works to third parties without authorization." Id. at 19.

IX. Judge Seibel lifts the stay and orders Wave to file this complaint.

137. In early November 2023, Wave submitted a letter requesting a pre-motion conference on Wave's motion to lift the stay in this case. ECF No. 295. Shortly thereafter, Defendants filed fourteen letters in opposition. See generally ECF Nos. 300 – 316. For the most part, Defendants did not expressly object to Wave's motion to lift the stay. Instead, they sought, among other things, the condition that if the stay was lifted, Wave should submit a comprehensive amended complaint containing more detailed allegations regarding each Defendants' infringement.

138. Judge Seibel held a hearing on November 29, 2023 and lifted the stay. See Nov. 29 Hrg. Tr. at 31:5-7.

139. Judge Seibel also commented during the hearing that she would consider consolidating the Trivago matter (Case No. 7:23-cv-03586-NSR) with the instant action. Id. at 23:19-24:4, 26:16-19, 39:23-40:9.

140. In addition, Judge Seibel ordered that Wave file a master amended complaint with particularized allegations of Defendants' infringement on Wave's Copyrighted Works by January 16, 2024. Id. at 22:16-23:18.

141. To that end, on December 13, 2023, Wave's counsel sent a letter to Defendants' Counsel to "seek your consent to work collaboratively with Plaintiff to determine the extent to which each Defendant is infringing or has been infringing on Plaintiff's copyrighted works."

142. Wave's counsel proposed a collaborative and relatively simple three-step process as follows: (1) Wave would provide Defendants with a list of the hotels where Wave's Copyrighted Works originated; (2) each Defendant would produce to Wave all of the photographs that it is using or has used to advertise each hotel in the list (because, as explained in the letter, "only Defendants are in possession of the complete library of photographs used to promote these hotels"); and (3) Wave would identify from the libraries of Defendants' photographs which of the Wave Copyrighted Works are being or have been used.

143. Wave's counsel noted that "all parties will receive the evidence contemplated by this process in the ordinary course of discovery," and by "[p]articipating in this collaborative process will streamline this case, save our clients' money and put the parties in the best position to maximize the ninety days set aside for settlement talks following our filing of the master complaint."

144. Despite Defendants' claim at the November 29, 2023 hearing before Judge Seibel to want to understand the extent of the infringement in this case, almost all Defendants rejected Wave's proposal. Regardless, Wave has diligently worked to compile and identify, to the best of its ability, Defendants' known infringement to a degree of reasonable particularity.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST SPECIFIC DEFENDANTS

145. Wave has identified and alleged as many infringements as it reasonably can for each Defendant. However, there is a library of over 3,000 Copyrighted Works connected to the Hotels, exclusively owned by Wave, which only Defendants, their marketing partners, affiliates, subsidiaries, parents and others can identify from their own public and non-public electronic platforms, as infringing.

146. Consistent with the Court's November 29, 2023 directive, Wave makes the following particularized allegations regarding Defendants' infringement on Wave's Copyrighted Works.

147. The following particularized allegations refer to and incorporate by reference the attached Exhibit 1, a compendium of spreadsheets organized by Defendant. The spreadsheets identify the following (using Defendant About.com, Inc. as an example):

(1) The domain name by which the infringement occurred:

148. The photograph numbers refer to specific file names (e.g., file name "phuket001.jpg," "lalu022.jpg," "muscat 017.jpg," etc...). Wave will produce the photographs, identified by their corresponding file names, as part of their disclosures pursuant to Rule 26(1)(a)(ii).

149. Separately, Defendants in The Wave Studio, LLC v. Trivago, N.V., Case No. 7:23-cv-03586-NSR are already on notice of Wave's particularized allegations regarding their infringement. See Second Amended Complaint and Exhibits thereto in The Wave Studio, LLC v. Trivago, N.V., Case No. 7:23-cv-03586-NSR, ECF No. 41. That is, the process to identify infringing photographs, to the extent Wave can know it, has already been completed and disclosed to each defendant in that case.⁷

150. Because Wave, without the benefit of discovery, does not know – and will likely never know – the total and complete extent of infringement, the below are only non-exhaustive examples of Defendants' infringement, to the best of Wave's knowledge, information, and belief at this time. If Defendants had acted collaboratively and provided their libraries of photographs to Plaintiff, the parties would have a much more extensive and accurate assessment of the infringement at issue in this case.

151. For the same reasons, the below non-exhaustive examples of Defendants' infringement are limited to (1) infringement that occurred on Defendants' desktop websites (i.e., these examples do not identify any infringement that occurred on Defendants' mobile applications) and (2) infringement that occurred between 2012 and 2020.

152. Wave expressly reserves the right to pursue damages related to any and all of Defendants' infringement of the Copyrighted Works, including those not alleged here.

The Booking Group (Including Defendants AGIP, Agoda Company, Booking.com BV, Booking.com USA Inc., Priceline.com, Kayak, Rocket Travel, and Momondo)

323. Wave repeats and realleges each and every allegation above as if fully set forth herein.

324. The Copyrighted Works are original, creative works, and constitute copyrightable subject matter under the copyright laws of the United States.

325. Wave is the owner of valid copyrights in the Copyrighted Works, and the Register of Copyrights has issued valid Certificates of Registration. See, The Wave Studio, LLC v. Citibank, N.A., et al., Case No. 7:22-cv-05141-CS, ECF No. 1 at Exhibit 1-A through 1-G.

326. Wave has complied in all respects with 17 U.S.C. § 101 et seq., and has secured the exclusive rights and privileges in and to the copyrights in the Copyrighted Works.

327. Defendants have directly infringed and continue to directly infringe Wave's Copyrighted Works by, inter alia, reproducing, displaying, and distributing unauthorized copies of Wave's photographs in violation of 17 U.S.C. § 501 et seq.

328. For example, regarding reproduction, Defendants copied Wave's entire images for their own personal commercial gain without Wave's authorization.

329. Regarding distribution, Defendants, either directly themselves or through affiliated entities or partners, have distributed Wave's Copyrighted Works to additional third parties without Wave's authorization, each act of which constitutes a separate infringing act.

330. Regarding display, Defendants have used the Copyrighted Works for substantially the same purpose as Wave's intended use: to promote and market lifestyles, hotel properties, and destination locations or to advertise and promote examples of Wave's artistic works. Therefore, there is no added benefit to the public by Defendants' display of Wave's Copyrighted Works.

331. Without authorization or consent, Defendants have illicitly reproduced, displayed, or distributed Wave's Copyrighted Works.

332. Defendants knew or should have known that they were required to purchase a license to copy, distribute, or display the Copyrighted Works.

333. Defendants have and had the ability to stop or limit such infringing use, and chose not to do so.

334. Defendants' infringement of Wave's Copyrighted Works has been deliberate, willful, and in utter disregard of Wave's rights.

335. As a direct and proximate cause of Defendants' infringement, Wave has been substantially harmed in an amount not capable of determination at this time.

336. Wave is entitled to injunctive relief preventing Defendants, their agents and employees, and all persons acting in concert or participation with them, from engaging in any further infringement of the Copyrighted Works.

337. Pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(b), Wave is entitled to recover from Defendants actual damages it has sustained and will sustain, disgorgement of any gains, profits, and advantages obtained by Defendants because of their acts of infringement, and attorneys' fees and costs. At present, the amount of such damages, gains, profits, and advantages cannot be fully ascertained by Wave, but will be established according to proof at trial.

338. Pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c), Wave may in lieu of actual damages and profits, and at any time before final judgment is rendered, elect statutory damages for all infringements involved in the action with respect to each of Wave's works that Defendants infringed. Accordingly, under 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(1), Wave may recover statutory damages of up to $30,000.00 per work infringed.

339. Moreover, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(2), because Defendants engaged in willful infringement, Wave may recover statutory damages of up to $150,000.00 per work willfully infringed. Plaintiff will make its election within the time permitted.

Count 2 - Contributory Copyright Infringement Against All Defendants
(17 U.S.C. § 101 et seq.)

340. Wave repeats and realleges each and every allegation above as if fully set forth herein.

341. Upon information and belief, Defendants have each contributorily infringed Wave's rights in the Copyrighted Works. Each Defendant has, for their own profit, distributed, provided, or otherwise trafficked, without Wave's authorization, the Copyrighted Works to third parties (including without limitation other Defendants) with the intention that such third parties display, reproduce, copy, or further distribute the Copyrighted Works for such third parties' profit, all in violation of Wave's exclusive rights under the Copyright Act to the Copyrighted Works.

342. Defendants knew, or should have known, that they did not have ownership or licensed rights, nor Wave's authorization, to engage in such unauthorized distribution, provision, and trafficking of the Copyrighted Works to such third parties (including without limitation other Defendants). Further, because Defendants engaged in such distribution, provision, and trafficking of the Copyrighted Works to such third parties with the intention that such third parties display, reproduce, copy, and further distribute the Copyrighted Works for such third parties' profit without Wave's authorization, Defendants knowingly and unlawfully induced such third parties (including without limitation other Defendants) to directly infringe Wave's exclusive rights in the Copyrighted Works, in violation of 17 U.S.C. § 501 et seq.

343. Without authorization or consent, Defendants, and each of them, distributed, provided, or otherwise trafficked to third parties (including without limitation other Defendants), Wave's Copyrighted Works.

344. By providing unfettered access to the Copyrighted Works to third parties (including without limitation other Defendants) for distribution (who in turn, directly infringed Wave's rights in the Copyrighted Works), Defendants each materially contributed to such third parties' infringement of Wave's copyrights in the Copyrighted Works. Accordingly, the contributory infringement by Defendants of Wave's exclusive rights in and to the Copyrighted Works, and to each separate third party to whom Defendants distributed, provided, or otherwise trafficked in Wave's Copyrighted Works without authorization, each constitutes a separate and distinct act of contributory infringement.

345. Further, upon information and belief, such third parties (including without limitation other Defendants) may each be liable for contributory copyright infringement alleged herein to the extent that one or all may have supplied, provided, distributed, or otherwise facilitated unfettered access and use by other unknown third parties to the Copyrighted Works without Wave's knowledge or authorization.

346. Defendants' conduct was deliberate, willful, and in utter disregard of Wave's rights.

347. Wave has been damaged by such Defendants' conduct, including, but not limited to, economic losses. Wave seeks all damages recoverable under the Copyright Act, including statutory or actual damages, including a disgorgement of profits or gains directly or indirectly attributable to the infringement of the Copyrighted Works. Wave continues to be damaged by such conduct and has no adequate remedy at law to compensate Wave for all the possible damages stemming from Defendants' conduct, entitling Wave to injunctive relief.

Count 3 – Vicarious Copyright Infringement Against All Defendants
(17 U.S.C. § 101 et seq.)

348. Wave repeats and realleges each and every allegation above as if fully set forth herein.

349. Upon information and belief, Defendants are each vicariously liable for the copyright infringement alleged herein because Defendants each had the ability to supervise the infringing conduct and because they had a direct financial interest in the infringing conduct.

350. None of the Defendants had the authority to license, sell, assign, or grant permission for any third party to use or display the Copyrighted Works. Notwithstanding that they had no right to license, sell, assign or permit any third party to use the Copyrighted Works, with each knowing it was not the owner of the copyright in such works, Defendants each continue to represent, or imply, to third parties that they have such rights in and to the Copyrighted Works.

351. Upon information and belief, Defendants each controlled the distribution of the Copyrighted Works by contracting with various third parties to display, copy, reproduce, distribute, sell, assign, or license the Copyrighted Works. Specifically, without authorization or consent, Defendants distributed, provided, or otherwise trafficked to such third parties, without Wave's authorization, each of Wave's Copyrighted Works.

352. Because of the nature of their control over the content on their websites, related content delivery networks, mobile apps, mobile sites, distribution hubs, storage mechanisms and other electronic means, such third parties each had the right and the ability to supervise the infringing activities complained of herein. And because of the nature of their business relationship with such third parties, Defendants each had the right and the ability to supervise and control the infringing activities of such third parties.

353. Defendants each knew or should have known that the Copyrighted Works they were providing to such third parties, would be used, published and disseminated on high-trafficked websites and other media and in widely circulated promotional materials.

354. Further, because Defendants each improperly and unlawfully represented, or implied, to third parties that it was the owner of or had the authority to grant permission to use the Copyrighted Works, Defendants each knew that such third parties and others would not seek to secure an appropriate license or authorization from Wave.

355. As a result of such Defendants' vicarious infringement of Wave's copyrights, Defendants have obtained direct and indirect profits that they would not otherwise have realized, but for their infringement of the Copyrighted Works.

356. Such Defendants' misconduct was willful, intentional, or reckless, and done for their own economic gain.

357. Wave seeks all damages recoverable under the Copyright Act, including statutory or actual damages, including a disgorgement of profits or gains directly or indirectly attributable to the infringement of the Copyrighted Works
